

President Column

2021 was a year of challenges with the worsening of the Covid-19 pandemic not only for Iraq but for the entire world, which led to a decrease in international support for most of the organizations operating in the region including (AAS-I). Likewise, Iraq faced many closures, job losses for most people, and recession which added to the deteriorating economic situation. Daily wage workers were the most affected group, in addition to government employees in the KRI who receive their salaries once every two months, for more than five years.

The need increased among the host community as well as the displaced, as many of the displaced lost the motivation to return to their areas of origin due to fear of the ISIS ideology believed to exist among some extremist individuals who still live in those areas, especially in Nineveh.

This period was accompanied by severe repercussions on the Assyrian nation in general and on the members of the Assyrian Aid Society in particular, which is the loss of one of the biggest pillars of the AAS, with the death of its former president, Engineer Ashur Sargon Eskrya, who played a major role in providing the best possible services to support our people and deliver the issue of indigenous peoples to the largest global forums.

Despite the difficult circumstances and political tensions in the country, AAS-I did its best and continued its activities geared towards supporting stability in our regions, through the continuous efforts of our supporters and partners to support families in need by prioritizing life-saving assistance which included the providing of food parcels and personal protective equipment (PPE) which included hand sanitizers, face masks, shields, hygiene kits and multivitamins. Accompanied by key messages and publications to raise awareness on the prevention and control of (COVID-19), as well as the mobile clinic field visits project, which included several areas of Duhok and the Nineveh Plains, where medical examination and providing of prescriptions and medicines for treatment related to COVID-19 for people in need in those areas.

Among the humanitarian projects that AASI implemented, the distribution of diapers to children and individuals with special needs of our people, and this project helped reduce the burden on families with limited income in various villages of our people as well as inside the center of Duhok governorate, and the project is still ongoing.

The AASI continues to support the Assyrian Education Process, which represents one of the main and vital goals to preserve our ancient mother tongue and its continuity for future generations, by disbursing the wages of more than 90 lecturers and their transportation in the governorates of Duhok and Erbil, in addition to implementing of the restoration process for the schools (Akad and Birta) in Duhok governorate, as well as the Assyrian schools' computer laboratories were equipped with laptops, and all the schools were supplied with heating oil for the cold winter.

In order to support stability in the villages of our people, many projects have been implemented, including the construction of six residential houses in the village of Chaqala in Barwar region (in honor of the late Dr. Rouel Gorges), which was demolished for more than forty years. As well as the main source of the water network was extended in the village of Romta, the extension of an irrigation water network in the village of Challeg, as well as the implementation of a project to install a water network to irrigate crops and water the livestock in the village of Gondikosa, and to provide fodder to livestock owners in the villages Challeg and Nahla, as well as the implementation of a generator maintenance project in the villages of Bakhitme and the village of Perozawa and the rehabilitation of 11 damaged residential houses in the villages of Nahla District.

The AASI has continued its activities in the liberated areas, especially in the Nineveh Plains, and many service projects have been implemented, which were the rehabilitation of seven damaged green shops in Baghdida and Bartilla, as well as the rehabilitation of five damaged shops in Telkief, Telsqof and Alqosh, and the drilling of water boreholes, in order to support its residents to work and encourage displaced families to return to their original areas from which they were displaced.

The AASI worked to build and develop the capabilities of its employees by holding training in the field of work of civil society institutions in order to provide the best services to our people.

The AASI continued to support the programs and activities of our people youth by organizing a soccer tournament, in honor of the former president late engineer Ashur Sargon Eskrya.

In order to bring joy to the children, the AASI concluded its activities in 2021 by distributing Christmas gifts to them in the governorates of Duhok, Erbil and Nineveh Plain.

Along with other impacts, the spread of the COVID-19 pandemic has halted the establishment of the United Nations Permanent Forum on Indigenous Issues for more than two years.

During 2021, many meetings were held with foreign institutions and organizations, directly or virtual, such as meeting and participation, accompanied by Mrs. Karmella Borashan, member of (AASA) from USA, In these meetings, many issues related to our people in the country were discussed, especially the issue of land grabbing in (58) Christian villages, as well as in the field of human rights advocacy and consolidating the principles of the human rights of indigenous peoples and religious freedoms in the country, as well as AASI role in providing services and projects, and the absence of the government's role and international organizations in the field of infrastructure reconstruction of the villages of our people, neglecting of the archaeological and urban monuments in areas such as Khannas and Sennacherib Dam (Jarwana), lack of support for the Assyrian Education Process, the conflict between the Turkish government and the PKK party over the lands of our people's villages in the Nahla, Barwar and Zakho regions.

The organizations that were met are Samaritan Purse, Religious Freedom Institute, USIP and USAID, which were was met by Ms. Karmella on my behalf.

In conclusion, I would like to thank all the members of AASI for giving me the confidence to undertake the responsibility of managing the work of the Assyrian Aid Society in order to achieve its goals at all levels, as well as the supportive workers and volunteers in the Assyrian Aid Society, whether inside the country or abroad, who worked for long hours to serve our nation.

The AASI will continue to provide its humanitarian work at all levels and in different circumstances, and to provide the best possible services to our people and to advocate the rights of indigenous peoples to live a decent life in their regions.
